CASE STUDY:

Impact of Visual: Centre for Entrepreneurship, Arts and Theatre on the community of Rathlowan

A new arts centre, called Visual: Centre for Entrepreneurship, Arts and Theatre will be opened in a town called Rathlowan. The town has a population of 20,000 people and the centre will cost €3 million. The centre is funded by a local entrepreneur and supported by a grant from the Arts Council. The centre will employ ten people full time and up to twenty on a part-time basis, including the local security company.

The centre will be located beside the church just off a residential estate. It will have a coffee shop and some space for local artists to rent. Exhibitions will be held in the summer and the organisers hope to run an adventure week, when the centre can be used for activities. A film club will be run over the winter months and a concert will be held on the first Saturday of every month. On a Sunday afternoon there will be a rotation of jazz, traditional and country western groups.

Local artists will have an opportunity to exhibit their work and ten per cent of proceeds will go towards the local Tidy Towns organisation. Art classes will be available every Saturday morning.

The centre will also link with the four post-primary schools and offer discounts for events and will ensure to run events that are linked to Leaving Certificate Art and Music curricula. They will also offer talks to students, particularly for those in Transition Year.

The centre itself will be sustainable, with energy-efficient solar panels, and wind energy will be used to generate electricity.

Many for-profit organisations welcome the centre as they hope to benefit economically from increased business. However, a local group of people are concerned as the majority in the area are elderly and this centre could impact negatively on their lives. They worry about noise levels, insufficient parking and the extra burden on the very limited infrastructure in the area. They are also concerned about litter and noise.

6. Working in pairs or small groups, discuss the positive and negative impacts of this centre on Rathlowan.

- (i) Categorise the positive impacts under economic, social and environmental perspectives in the table below.

Economic	Pay wages / salaries to workers
Social	Encourages job satisfaction
Environmental	It is sustainable and uses solar and wind energy

- (ii) Categorise the negative impacts under economic, social and environmental perspectives in the table below.

Economic	May increase demand for houses
Social	Puts pressure on local facilities
Environmental	May create pollution and waste
